There is no necessary inconsistency in the somewhat enthusiastic reception given to Balfour in the west of Ireland. He is there to consider the construction of public works to give employment to needy people, and the half-starved peasants are more interested at present in getting something to fill their stomachs than in any question of Home Rule. The Tories will make a mistake if they give the matter much political significance.

Kicking Home, the only profit, is not credited with responsibility for the trouble at Standing Rock Agency. If he were hobbled there would probably soon be an end of the matter. Nothing discredits a profit like a little judicious discipline.

The British brig Eugene, with cargo from Brazil, went ashore Wednesday night at Jones' Inlet. Both masts are gone to the board and the vessel is fast breaking up. The crew was rescued.

BARTINE VS. CASSIDY.

A Clean Knock-Out in the Sixth Round.

The following are some excerpts from the Bartine-Cassidy debate as recorded in the Virginia Enterprise:

"The event of the political campaign of 1890 took place at Piper's Opera House last evening on the occasion of the joint debate between H. F. Bartine and George W. Cassidy, candidates for Congress.

"The hall was literally packed like a sardine box by really a very orderly and appreciative audience.

"At 8 o'clock F. M. Edmunds, Chairman of the Democratic County Central Committee, stated the terms of the discussion and introduced the Hon. George W. Cassidy.

THE FIRST ROUND.

"Mr. Cassidy arose like an outraged politician. He said that in Mr. Bartine's closing remarks in the joint discussion at Reno when he had no opportunity to answer, he took occasion to make certain statements which were not true. Mr. Cassidy said he would not do such a thing for a certificate of election. [Applause.] He declared with emphasis, said Mr. Cassidy, that I voted for the Morrison Tariff bill, which made a clean reduction of 20 per cent along the line that I absolutely voted to cut down the duty on lead ore, one of the mineral industries of my own town. He claimed that he denied this statement in toto in a newspaper article and furnished Bartine with the record, and thought he should have the courtesy to drop the mistake; but no, he continued the assertion word for word, from every stump, like a little child reciting a piece in school.

"The speaker complained bitterly of a picture Bartine drew in Reno of the Democratic filibusterers in Congress, but he failed to speak of the filibustering the Republicans had done in the past, but his experience was that human nature was pretty much the same, both with Democrats and Republicans on that score. He then reviewed, at some length, the history of the Morrison bill, and its relation to lead ore and denied the statement that he had recorded his vote in favor of reducing the duty upon them.

LAST ROUND.

"Mr. Cassidy did not repeat or reassert any strange statements in the last round. He had been completely answered at every point. Every thrust he had made had been neatly parried, and he devoted his last remarks to a review of the Democratic State ticket, and to certain alleged reforms that the Democratic platform held out.

But there was no let up to Bartine. Having demolished Cassidy, he proceeded to pick his bones. He said he had been accused of making the same speech over and over again, and he showed that Mr. Cassidy had twice appealed to his time-keeper to call him off on his 30-minute speech in Reno. Challenged to a joint debate upon the political issues of the day, he presumed Mr. Cassidy could talk for 30 minutes without branching off to State matters, as Congressmen had nothing to do with them, but as the gentleman had jumped the track he would pursue him. He said Mr. Cassidy spoke of reforms promised by the Democratic platform. "How in reason do the Democrats expect to redeem their pledges, having failed to nominate a Legislative ticket?" asked Mr. Bartine. "How will you perform your promises without a Legislative ticket in the field?"

"Mr. Bartine closed by promising that if re-elected he would represent this people as he had always done—to the very best of his ability.

"After the speaking a very large number of people remained in the hall to shake hands with Mr. Cassidy and Mr. Bartine.

CONDITION OF IDAHO.

Points from the Governor's Annual Report.

The annual report of Governor Shoup of Idaho estimates the value of taxable property in that territory at $25,581,305. About three-fifths of the agricultural land of Idaho is arid and must be irrigated to be productive. Owing to the severity of last winter heavy losses were inflicted on the live stock industry. A satisfactory increase is shown in the production of mines. He put out of last year being nearly double that of any former season. As to the Mormons the Governor says that to all appearances they have resolved to abandon polygamous practices.

The McKinley bill has made a greater reduction in tariff duties than was ever effected by a single act of legislation in this or any other country. It has at one sweep cut down the customs revenues at least six millions annually. In England, when by cheese-paring economy the Government effects a reduction of a few hundred thousand pounds, the genius of the Chancellor of the Exchequer is extolled to the sky, says the San Francisco Chronicle. Yet these same Britishers and their American admirers have the gall to write columns in their papers saying that the McKinley Tariff bill increases taxes, because forsooth the duties are not laid to suit the convenience of the English manufacturers.

Liebon advises couple the entrance of the Zambesi river by the British gunboats with the recall of the Portuguese Minister to England. This may not mean war but it sounds very much like it. The Portuguese Government is probably reduced to the disagreeable alternative of war without hope of success or the overthrow of the monarchy. Such an outbreak of hostilities might rise insurance premiums on British bottoms, but Germany, France and Scandinavia are better prepared than we are to profit by the diversion.

SILVER COIN.

The Chilean Government Favors an American Standard.

Minister Egan advises the State Department that the President of Chile has expressed to him his most cordial approval of the proposition of the recent international conference, and especially the proposed adoption of a common silver coin for circulation in all the American Republics. This would, the President thinks, by making silver the American standard of value, in contradistinction to gold as an European standard, do more than any other movement to extend and consolidate the influence of the United States, and increase her commerce with the Republics of South America.

The Tariff Bill.

Senator Sherman was quoted last week as saying that the absence of the rebate clause from the revenue section of the Tariff Act was identical. The Tobacco Journal wrote the Senator about it and he replied that the express purpose of postponing the taking effect of Section 30, which provides for a reduction in internal taxes, until after the 1st of January, 1891, was that it was believed the general law took effect October 6th. A lapse of nearly three months would be sufficient to exhaust the supply on hand, and, therefore, no rebate was provided, as in some former reductions. He has no doubt all who participated in the conference took the same view of the matter.

Manchester manufacturers refuse to believe that a Pittsburgh iron firm proposes to open a branch in England for the sale of its wares. It is a fact that in many kinds of iron-ware we can furnish cheaper and better goods than English makers, thanks to the encouragement of our industry and the more intelligent adaptation of means to ends.

The Speaker of the Oklahoma House Wednesday refused to eject lobbyists, whereupon Terrell, drawing a revolver, declared if the House could not be protected by its own rules, he would protect it himself from the insults of lobbyists. The sight of the weapon caused a stampede, and the House soon adjourned.

A duel, Heidelberg fashion, is reported between two New York club men. The duel in America has hitherto at least had the dignity of being a serious affair. When it comes down to a matter of French and German monkey-shines, American common sense will soon laugh it out of court.

JEWELS AND LACES.

"Oh, girl with the jeweled fingers,
Oh, girl with the laces rare!"

What are your jewels and what are your laces worth to you if, from undergoing the trying ordeals which fashionable society imposes on its devotees, enough to test the physical strength and endurance of the most robust, you break down, lose your health and become a physical wreck, as thousands do from such cause? Under such circumstances you would willingly give all your jewels and all your laces to regain lost health. This you can do if you will but resort to the use of that great restorative known as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Thousands of grateful women bless the day it was made known to them. For all derangements, irregularities and weaknesses peculiar to women, it is the only remedy, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee from the manufacturers, that it will give satisfaction in every case, or money will be refunded. This guarantee has been printed on the bottle-wrapper, and faithfully carried out for many years. An invigorating tonic, it imparts strength to the whole system. For feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly boon.

Dr. Pierce's Pellets regulate and cleanse the liver, stomach and bowels. One a dose. Sold by druggists. 25 cents a vial.

HOW THEY ESCAPED.

Particulars of the Recent Exodus From the State Prison.

Carson Appeal: George W. Lewis and August Richards escaped from the Nevada State Penitentiary Monday night, it is supposed between the hours of 10 p. m. and midnight.

Lewis has been the boss of the blacksmith shop, and through this means secured tools with which to free himself.

Richards assisted him in the work, and together they made a hole sufficiently large to allow a man to pass quite easily through in the iron grating of their cell, both being confined together, and nothing then confronted them but the stone wall, probably two feet thick. A good-sized stone was worked loose with little trouble, allowing them to get out on the roof sloping down from the second story of the main prison.

Immediately above them was the walk of the guard, who makes the round every half hour, but they seemed to have calculated things to a nicety, and evaded him. No one knows what course they took after leaving the roof, and up to a late hour no further news had been heard of them.

Lewis is the man who was committed to the prison from Elko county several years ago for the murder of an Italian, and is the son of Mrs. Bates, who has so many times appeared before the Board of Pardons in her efforts to free her son. His sentence was for life, and should he ever be captured it is quite probable that the entire limit will be dealt out to him.

Richards is from Elko from the crime of burglary. His time was ten years.

They were kind enough to leave a bag of tools, but not their address.

RICHARD'S SCREENERS HIMSELF—LEWIS STILL AT LARGE.

The two escaped prisoners, Lewis and Richards, says the Carson Tribune, were tracked up the Clear Creek road, and yesterday morning Richards, the man in for burglary, was started from the brush about 9 o'clock. From that hour until half-past one he kept the Indian paravers and white posse at their wit's end endeavoring to effect his capture, one shot being fired at him by an Indian. At that hour he walked up and surrendered himself to Commissary Kelly, and was brought down by Charles Emery and lodged in his old quarters last night.

According to Richards' statement he and Lewis were just awakening from a sleep near Summit camp, when they observed the Indians coming. Lewis said: "My God, we are discovered; let's surrender." Richards replied: "No! I am only in for eight years and you for life. You lay still, and I'll run and keep them interested, and when the opportunity offers you get up and make for another quarter."

The plan no doubt worked well, for up to noon to-day Lewis had not been apprehended.

E. L. BRIDGES DEAD.

E. L. Bridges, at one time a resident of Reno, in the capacity of a surveyor and well known here, died in Susanville last Tuesday evening.

The following is from the Lassen Mail: Mr. N. A. Bridges, after a brief illness died at the Johnson House last Tuesday evening. Typhoid pneumonia was the cause of death. Mr. Bridges, a thorough almost a stranger here, coming from San Francisco some six months ago in the employ of Hutchinson & Leavitt as a civil engineer, he won many friends by his affable, genial and courteous manner. The funeral took place to-day, Thursday, and his remains were followed to the cemetery by a large concourse of friends.

SENATOR JOHN P. JONES.

A Royal Welcome Given Him—The Magnificent Parade—More Than 500 Men in Line.

Last night's was the most brilliant carnival in the history of Reno. The procession and illuminations that have heretofore welcomed the great and distinguished visitors to our city were but playthings compared with the monster demonstration of last evening. Every preparation had been made for making the reception of Senator Jones one long to be remembered.

A special train from Carson brought down more than three hundred and fifty people who were to participate in the welcoming of Nevada's illustrious Senator. The procession was formed in three lines, the outer being the flambeaux and torches and the inner the transparencies. There were more than five hundred men in line. The long procession of lights and transparencies as they counter-marched on the Plaza and Virginia street, with the continual rattle of fire works and Chinese bombs going off, with Roman candles and sky rockets bursting in the heavens, made a scene of brilliancy that will not soon be forgotten.

In addition to the John P. Jones Young Men's Republican Club and the Carson Club, was the Young Foley Club and the Colcord Club. The latter composed of the older members of the Republican party who were beyond the age required for admission into the young men's club. Each member carried in addition to his torch, a flag, pick, shovel and coffee pot, illustrative of the manner in which R. K. Colcord earned for many years a livelihood in Nevada. The Central Republican Club of Carson was composed of about twenty colored gentlemen led by a fife and drum.

The transparencies were numerous and excellent. The three principal ones being pictures of Jones, Colcord and Bartine. About each were appropriate sentences. On that of Jones was the following: "He Sprung from the Loins of Labor. The greatest Political Economist of the Age. The Father of Silver Legislation and the Master of the Tariff." On that of Bartine: "The Mill Boy burns the midnight oil—to-day in Congress." On Colcord's: "I will Listen to Advice, then Follow the Dictates of My Own Conscience." "With-out Wealth, yet with Honor, Ability and Honesty."

The following are some of the sentences upon the other transparencies:

Democrats to the Rear, Republicans to the Front.

From 80c to $1 10—Jones' bill.

Damp Silver—Grover Cleveland.

H. F. Bartine—Republican landmarks.

A Free Ballot and a Fair Count.

AT THE OPERA HOUSE.

It was 9 o'clock when the parade broke ranks. The Opera House was already filled to overflowing.

Dr. Dawson, the President of the evening, after calling a number of representative citizens to the stage briefly introduced Hon. J. Stephens, of Virginia City, the first speaker.

Mr. Stephens spoke of the issues of the day to be decided soon at the ballot box by the voters of the country. He eulogized the able services performed by Senator Jones in Congress, not only for his own State but for all the country. Mr. Stephens asked what was the matter with Washoe county, and the hearty response showed that Washoe was all right. After speaking of the different candidates Mr. Stephens gracefully said he would make way for Senator Jones whom he knew all present were eager to hear.

SENATOR JOHN P. JONES.

The introduction of Senator Jones was the signal for a prolonged burst of applause. Senator Jones began his address by saying that he was sorry that his physical condition was not better, as he had desired to be at his best on this occasion. Without further introduction the speaker launched into a discussion of the merits of the present silver bill, detailing the history of the measure and showing why it was the best bill that could possibly be passed under existing conditions. The bill was a long stride towards free coinage. Mr. Jones here took occasion to refer to the statement made by Mr. Cassidy, in which he stated that had he been in Congress he would have had free coinage or nothing, showing that with all Mr. Cassidy's statesmanship he would have very probably got the nothing.

Leaving the silver question he took up the tariff, painting a realistic word-picture the beneficent results of the McKinley bill. The two philosophers are the workmen, not the sages. The march of mind is gauged by invention, not by books. The astronomer could afford to make a mistake in the distances of the stars, the workman can not afford to make an error in the construction of the piston of an engine. Such were a few of the many beautiful sayings in which the speaker drew the picture of the difference between the realm of practical and theoretical economies.

At the close of Senator Jones' speech, Hon. J. Ponjade was introduced, but owing to the lateness of the hour (11:30), he said he would no longer hold the audience. The meeting adjourned with three rousing cheers for Senator Jones and the Republican party.

A COMSTOCK BRUTE.

Had He Lived in Reno He Would Have Been Treated to a Dose of Tar and Feathers.

Thursday forenoon about 10:30 o'clock, says the Virginia Chronicle, a man employed in the Con. Cal. & Va. mine met his divorced wife near the old railroad depot on F street. They had a few words together, when he hauled off and knocked her down, kicking her as she lay on the ground. She regained her feet and threw a stone at him without hitting, when he drew a pistol and pointed it at her. Some men passing along stopped further hostilities, and the fellow put up his gun and left. No arrest was subsequently made, but the brutal whelp richly deserves severe punishment. And he must behave himself considerably better than he has been doing or he will get it.

AT THE UNIVERSITY.

Nevada's Admission Day Observed With Appropriate Exercises.

Yesterday afternoon at the State University the Twenty-sixth Anniversary of the admission of Nevada was celebrated with very pleasant and appropriate exercises. The programme was excellent, and the different participants acquitted themselves with credit. After the speaking and singing, Hon. J. Ponjade, Regent Fish and others present addressed the students.

GRAND REPUBLICAN RALLY.

The Wind Up of the Campaign—A General Meeting of the County Candidates.

To-night will be the final wind up of the Republican campaign. There will be a torchlight procession in the early part of the evening followed by a general gathering at Armory Hall immediately after. The county candidates and other speakers will address the meeting. Everyone invited to be in attendance.

Advice to Mothers.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so send at once and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhoea, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle. feb. 21-sw-7y

The Carleton Opera Company.

The Examiner of a recent date has the following concerning the production of The Brigands at the Grand Opera House, San Francisco: The repetition of The Brigands last night drew as large an audience as any of the week and the tuneful music was again greatly applauded. The cast was the same as that of the first representation on Monday night, with the important exception that Mr. Carleton's part of the brigand chief was taken by J. K. Murry whose fine voice and execution made him a very acceptable substitute. In other respects the performance was practically the same as that so much liked on Monday night.

Roll of Honor.

Following is the Roll of Honor for Hoffer School District for the month ending October 24, 1890: Lillian Campbell, 91; Ruby Ede, 93; Hattie Ede, 100; Tasha Fretto, 95; Daisy Holcomb, 100; Richard Holcomb, 100; Bud Holcomb, 100; Lulu Lyell, 93; Lizzie Longley, 100; Mand Lyell, 100; Orin Marrett, 93; Lillie Sherman, 96; Myrtle Holcomb, 96; Bessie Wright, 100; Willie Wright 94.

Democratic Announcement.

Grand torch-light procession and final Democratic rally of the campaign, on Saturday evening, November 1st. Dr. H. Bergstein, Gen. J. C. Hagerman, C. A. Jones and other local speakers and candidates will address the citizens of Reno at McKissick's Opera House. By order P. H. MULCHAY, Secretary Dem. Co. Central Committee.

The Orphans' Appeal.

The JOURNAL is in receipt of the first issue of the Orphans' Appeal, a bright little periodical published on the Comstock. Miss Dollie A. McCone is the editor. The paper is run in the interests of the orphan children who are cared for by the Sisters of Charity at Virginia City. The array of articles is well written and newsy, and judging from the amount of advertising in the issue before us it should be a financial success, as its worthy object deserves.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Dyspepsia

Makes the lives of many people miserable, and often leads to self-destruction. Distress after eating, sour stomach, sick headache, heartburn, loss of appetite, a faint, "all gone" feeling, bad taste, coated tongue, and irritable of the bowels, are some of the more common symptoms. Dyspepsia does not get well of itself. It requires careful, persistent attention, and a remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which acts gently, yet surely and efficiently. It tones the stomach and other organs, regulates the digestion, creates a good appetite, and by thus overcoming the local symptoms removes the sympathetic effects of the disease, banishes the headache, and refreshes the tired mind. "I have been troubled with dyspepsia. I had but little appetite, and what I did eat distressed me, or did me little good. In an hour after eating I would experience a faintness, or tired, all-gone feeling, as though I had not eaten anything. My trouble, I think, was aggravated by my business, which is that of a painter, and from being more or less shut up in a room with fresh paint. Last spring I took Hood's Sarsaparilla—took three bottles. It did me an immense amount of good. It gave me an appetite, and my food relished and satisfied the craving I had previously experienced."
